Development and usage of odML based OpenEHR archetypes in electroencephalography

The work describes a development of the openEHR archetypes in electrophysiology domain. These archetypes are based on internationally respected odML terminology. The goal is to prepare a set of archetypes suitable for a publication process into odML repositories.

20.08.2015   Cairns